Cowley County Historical Society creates new county historical event

Three little boys sit in the doorway of Skull Creek School (District 101). (Special to the Courier)

Although Celebrate Winfield History has ceased, a new event — Celebrate Cowley County History — has been created by a committee and the Cowley County Historical Society. The new celebration will be held on Jan. 30, 2016, and it is hoped that it will be as enjoyable and educational as the former.

One of the featured subjects will be the rural schools of Cowley County.

If you attended a rural school in the county, please write a few paragraphs with your memories and share these as well as photos of the school. Your input will provide a fascinating and personal glimpse of the schools.

Please call 221-4811 or e-mail your submissions to cchsm@kans.com.
