Loaded gun found in box resembling Bible

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City police say they found a loaded gun inside a hollowed-out lockbox that resembles the Bible during a traffic stop. According to the New York Post, the container looked like a leather-bound

King James Bible. But instead of the word of God, it contained a loaded Glock 17, 10 bullets and a magazine. Officers made the discovery early Monday in Brooklyn after pulling over a car with tinted windows. Police say they searched the car after smelling a strong odor of marijuana. They also found an open alcohol container and a knife. The driver and two passengers were charged with weapon and marijuana possession.
